

Two lives saved in dramatic rescues

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A TEENAGER was dragged out of an overturned car in one of two extraordinary rescues at Haverhill Tesco last week.

The 18-year-old had a seizure behind the wheel of his car which then crashed on to a roundabout on Sunday.

The incident occurred just days after an off-duty emergency care assistant helped restart the heart of a man suffering a cardiac arrest at the store.

On Friday at around 3.45pm, an 82-year-old who was queuing at the supermarket in Haverhill's Cangle Road suffered a heart attack and stopped breathing.

In an extraordinary stroke of luck, also in the queue was off-duty ambulance service emergency care assistant Colin Hartley, who was approached by Tesco staff to help.

Although the man had stopped breathing, Mr Hartley immediately started CPR while others phoned the emergency services.

Mr Hartley said: "It's what I do, my training kicked in and I took over; it's not something you just walk past and ignore."

DRAMA: Two lives were saved in dramatic incidents at Tesco last week

Officers from Haverhill police station brought the station defibrillator to the scene. The ambulance service sent a rapid response vehicle, an ambulance officer and ambulance crew, and air ambulance and Suffolk Police firearms officers – who have defibrillators in their cars – also attended.

The man was taken by land ambulance to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge, where he was treated and made a recovery.

Insp Peter Ferrie of Haverhill Police said: "We got an update [on Sunday] that the male had survived and was doing well."

Mr Hartley added: "I was lucky to be in the right place at the right time. It was a great team effort from everyone involved and I'm personally glad to keep a family together."

The incident was followed by another rescue on Sunday when an 18-year-old driver suffered a seizure behind the wheel of his car as he drove down the ramp out of the Tesco car park.

His vehicle crashed into the roundabout outside the store and another vehicle before flipping over and crashing into the garden fence of a home in The Pightle.

The driver, who was from Cavendish, was still having a seizure behind the wheel when the car turned over, with the seatbelt pulling at his neck. He was pulled out of the car to safety by a local scaffolder who had been shopping in Tesco.

The scaffolder, who did not wish to be named, said: "I heard the most horrible thump and I looked over and heard an almighty crash and saw the car upside down."

"I don't know what came over me. Everyone said he was dead but the seatbelt was strangling him."

The 25-year-old scaffolder – who has no first aid or emergency services training – smashed the rear windscreen of the car, wriggled in, and managed to pull the driver out.

"I just saw him and I knew I had to act, it had to be done. No-one was doing anything," he said.

The scaffolder said that once the Volunteers to man police front desk?

CLOSING: Haverhill Police Station

POLICE bosses are investigating whether the front desk of Haverhill police station could be reopened in the future and manned by volunteers after it closes in April.

Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore said at a meeting with Haverhill Town Council on Thursday that he was investigating the possibility of having a part-time front desk manned by volunteers.

He said: "If there's a way we can have community self help, I'm 110 per cent behind it and prepared to put a bit of money in to get training done."

"That's one of the things we are looking at at the moment. It will take just a little bit of time, so don't give up on it, don't despair – that's absolutely crucial."

Haverhill town councillor Jason Crooks, who had asked Mr Passmore if there was any way the front desk could remain open, said after the meeting: "I think this option could certainly work in smaller towns but because Haverhill is a large growing town we really need paid professional clerks to man the front desk."

NEW FRIENDS:
Place Farm pupils meeting animals at Castle Manor Academy

Wild day out for school pupils

PRIMARY school pupils made furry, feathered and scaly friends this month.

A group of Year One students from Place Farm Primary Academy visited Castle Manor Academy on Friday, February 12, as part of their Where the Wild Things Are eco scheme.

The pupils met a tortoise called Tilly, stroked chickens and ducks, and met Elsa the rabbit, Rosie the guinea pig, and Castle Manor's two resident sheep.

Castle Manor teacher Becky Baldwin said: "It was a wonderful morning for both children and staff."

CRIME

Housing help to tackle drugs

POLICE are working with social housing providers to tackle the problem of drug dealing in Haverhill.

At a meeting at the Haverhill Arts Centre on Thursday, policing commander for West Suffolk Andrew Mason was questioned by Cllr Pat Hanlon about the problem of London drug dealers coming to Haverhill.

He said in response: "You are right about the problem from London, and that sadly isn't unique to Haverhill."

"It's called county lines now, and they are coming from London into Ipswich and Yarmouth and all those places, and Haverhill is not immune to that, I totally understand that."

He said they were working with the borough council and social housing to tackle

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

the problem.

He added: "I'm not absolving us of the problem, we lock up baddies, that's what we do."

Spokesmen from the St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Havebury Housing Partnership said that they had been working with the police and passing information to them.

Mark Jepson, communities manager at Havebury Housing Partnership said: "Over the past few years, we have been working in conjunction with the Police across West Suffolk, including Haverhill to help build, maintain and promote safer local communities in the Haverhill area.

"In particular, we have developed a strong working relationship with the Safer Neighbourhoods Teams and regularly work together to appropriately share information regarding anti-social or criminal activity."

"If it has been established that there has been any breach of our tenancy agreements including in respect of drugs, then we will take appropriate action, and in certain cases we would look at terminating tenancies."

The police have also been tackling the problem of drug dealers coming up from the capital with an operation call Op London which involves issuing warrants and tracking down offenders.

POLICE

Town's police inspector sorry to say goodbye

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A POLICE inspector says he is sad to be leaving Haverhill after spending nearly five years as the town's local policing commander.

Insp Peter Ferrie, currently based at Haverhill police station, will be taking up a role as a response inspector in Bury St Edmunds from April, as part of the reorganisation of Suffolk Police.

Insp Ferrie, who became Haverhill's inspector in October 2011, said: "I'm obviously really upset. I've been here for four and a half years. I did hope I would be able to stay for 10 years until I retired. I spent 10 years here as a Pc - I've spent a full 30 years in Haverhill."

"I've had some really happy times here and I'm really grateful to the town council, other councillors and residents for the help they've given me. I really get the sense that it's a town that's pro-police. We have had some real success here, particularly in our fight against Class A drug dealing."

Insp Ferrie's new role will involve responding to emergencies that take place anywhere between Haverhill and Lowestoft, as well as working at the Police Investigation Centre in Bury St Edmunds. He will be one of five police inspectors working in Bury St Edmunds on a rolling shift basis.

He said: "It's a massive area, it's a massive job."

"It's something exciting, something different, a bit of a new challenge, but I will really miss Haverhill and the people here."

Insp Ferrie said highlights of his time at Haverhill were the day the Olympic torch passed through the town in

LEAVING: Insp Peter Ferrie is moving to Bury after acting as Haverhill inspector since October, 2011

2012, and getting out and about on his bike, meeting people and visiting different parts of the town and the surrounding area.

He said: "I will really miss the officers here. They're absolutely fantastic. They work so hard. I'll miss the station, the officers and the town."

The news of the change was announced at a meeting at Haverhill Arts Centre last Thursday, where councillors quizzed Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore and the superintendent for West Suffolk, Andrew Mason, about the future of policing in Haverhill.

The police bosses revealed that Insp Ferrie would be moving on and the new local policing commander for both Haverhill and Sudbury from April would be current Sudbury inspector Danny Cooper.

After changes - designed to save the police service millions of pounds - are brought in on April 4, the role of local policing commander for Haverhill alone will no longer exist.

The police bosses said at the meeting that covering a larger area would not mean that Insp Cooper had less time to focus on Haverhill.

This is because he will be tasked solely with neighbourhood policing, and not have any response duties.

They also said that after Insp Cooper takes over a new kind of public forum for residents to air their views on policing would be set up in Haverhill.

No figures yet on police staffing numbers, councillors are told POLICE and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore and the superintendent for West Suffolk, Andrew Mason, were quizzed on a number of issues about the future of the police at the meeting called by Haverhill councillors last Thursday.

They said they were unable to reveal what exact staffing numbers would be at Haverhill police station from April for HR reasons. They did say that teams would continue to be made up of one sergeant and four constables, and that certain members of staff, including Sgt Matt Gilbert and Pc Cheryl Claydon, would continue to be based at the station. They said that they would inform councillors of new staffing numbers as soon as they were able to release the information.

In response to questioning from Cllr Maureen Byrne about the victim support centre for those who have suffered domestic abuse, Supt Mason said that the centre would continue to run in the same way.

He added that there were no plans to make changes to the work being done at Haverhill police station by dedicated domestic violence offer Pc Lawrence Allen.

When quizzed about the role of PCSOs after the cuts, they said this would be changing and would be focused solely on community policing, not on response duties.

PCSOs are also set to be working daytime hours rather than on a shift basis.

Tax rise passed by councillors

A COUNCIL'S first tax rise in six years has been passed as planned – despite one councillor proposing to lower the rise to just 47p.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council voted on Tuesday night to pass a 1.95 per cent increase in its portion of council tax – a rise which will be introduced at the same time as the new £40 charge for garden waste collection.

The borough council's tax increase will be £3.42 for the average household – 7p a week – and will be combined with rises in the county council, police and town council precepts to add up to an increase of more than £30 in the average Haverhill family's tax.

At Tuesday's meeting, Cllr David Nettleton proposed reducing the rise by £2.95 to just 47p.

Cllr Bob Cockle, who seconded Cllr Nettleton's proposed amendment, said: "Us councillors who listen to normal people know that they are concerned that they're going to have to find money for the brown bin, that you are going to put the car parking charges up... as far as I'm concerned we're trying to do the best for the people of St Edmundsbury. Whether it's 7p or £1.7billion, we have to accept that this is quite a lot of money for some people."

HANNAH MIRSKY

Haverhill councillor Tony Brown, who voted in favour of lowering the tax rise, raised concerns that Forest Heath District Council, which shares services with St Edmundsbury, had not raised council tax and had pledged not to raise it for four years. He pointed out that Forest Heath's precept was £35 lower than what is paid in St Edmundsbury.

He said: "Something seems to have gone badly out of kilter. I don't think our residents should be subsidising Forest Heath."

Leader of the borough council, John Griffiths, told Cllr Brown that there was no cost subsidy to Forest Heath, and that the council's budgets were entirely separate, with any cost-sharing done through an official process.

Only seven councillors voted in favour of lowering the rise and the initial budget was passed.

Cllr Ian Houlder, cabinet member for resources and performance, said the budget was drawn up in the face of serious monetary pressures, including a 69 per cent cut in the council's revenue support grant.

He said: "I believe that facing all these financial pressures, asking for that little bit extra makes sense."

IN COSTUME: children taking part in the 'Chatterbox Challenge'

Chatterbox challenge for charity

CHILDREN at a preschool have raised more than £300 for charity by taking part in a "chatterbox challenge".

Youngsters at Haverhill's Happy Faces Preschool completed the challenge by dressing up

The rhymes were designed to improve their communication skills as they were fundraising for ICAN, the children's communication charity.

The preschool – whose staff are trained in communication by ICAN – raised a total of £311.

The charity aims to prevent children who have trouble communicating becoming isolated and withdrawn.

MUSIC

Joe's hoping for success with Talk Talk covers

ABOVE: Haverhill musician Joe Bailey, who plays under the name Hardactors
LEFT: The cover art for Joe's EP It's My Life, which is released next month

A MUSICIAN has been inspired to release an EP after playing to an international crowd in London.

Joe Bailey, who lives in Haverhill's Henderson Close, has been playing indie pop under the name Hardactors for more than two years, first as a duo and now as a solo artist.

After releasing his first EP in December 2014, Joe's second EP, It's My Life, is set to be released on iTunes on March 25 this year.

The EP is a selection of covers of 80s band Talk Talk, with artwork by illustrator James Marsh, who worked with Talk Talk in the 1980s and has provided artwork for other artists including Jamiroquai.

Joe was inspired to produce the album after playing at an event called The Spirit of Talk Talk in the 1,250-capacity Clapham Grand in London on November 25.

"People had come from

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

all over the world," said Joe. "It was a really good atmosphere and we were lucky enough to be asked to open it, so we were the first thing people heard."

In the run-up to the gig, 22-year-old Joe and his then-bandmate Alfie Waik-Pawsey started experimenting with Talk Talk covers.

Joe said: "The songs ended up sounding more and more like our own music. We had all the plans to release songs that we had written but it's become a great little project."

The tracks on the "unorthodox" EP have all come out of this experimentation with Talk Talk songs.

Joe, whose music idols include David Bowie and Michael Jackson, described the musical style of his tracks as "picturesque pop".

"You can sort of immerse yourself in it," he said.

"It's kind of edgy and thrashy but it's also very sonic and layered. There's a whole world that you can immerse yourself in."

Joe, who got his first guitar aged 12, said highlights of playing as Hardactors had so far included supporting artists such as Fyfe Dangerfield of the Guillemots, Turin Brakes and Leddra Chapman, as well as having his music played on BBC Introducing Suffolk and Essex.

He said: "It feels like some of our achievements have yet to be made."

"Getting the first EP out was the biggest achievement because such a lot of work went into it, and now the second one's coming out it's all the same feelings."

It's My Life by Hardactors will be released on iTunes on March 25. For more information, visit hardactors.com.

CLEANING UP: Volunteers are needed for litter picks in the local community

Call for residents to help community clean-up with litter pick

RESIDENTS are being urged to spruce up their local area by getting involved in a community litter pick.

Cllr Clive Arvey, chair of Suffolk Waste

Partnership, which is encouraging the litter picks, said: "I would encourage anyone who cares about their local environment to follow the lead of these dedicated volunteers and join in with a litter pick in their area. It is a great way to involve the community, get out and about and improve the habitats of local wildlife."

Litter picks in the Haverhill area include one in Stradishall on March 6 and one in Wickhambrook on March 20.

If you would like to organise a litter pick yourself, call St Edmundsbury Borough Council – which can provide equipment and collect gathered waste – on (01638) 719000.

It's a win win for the council

AS Brown Bin collection was previously included in the Council Tax we paid, those who opt not to pay the new charge are losing £40 worth of services they used to receive.

This means that if you opt in you pay £40, if you opt out you lose £40, so the council receive £40 from every household either in increased revenue or as a saving in services. With this in mind, I wonder how many people will think to bag the garden waste and put it in the black bin instead.

D Penman
Witchfield Road

Charge is scandalous

WITH regards to the forthcoming charge for the collection of brown bins. This is scandalous because I'm sure a lot of people will not pay it and all that waste will go into the black bin which will end up in landfills. Surely this can't be right environmentally or morally and I can't believe this is what the government wants. Do people realise that kitchen waste, food and plate scrapings, tea bags, coffee grounds, shredded paper, treated wood, pet waste etc will no longer be allowed in the brown bin. This is a big step backwards. Another leaflet came through the door about the combination of waste services to a single site near Bury St Edmunds, does that mean that the recycling centre along the bypass will close resulting in job losses in Haverhill?

Illegal:

The threat or use of these weapons of mass destruction would be illegal under international law in almost every conceivable circumstance. Each of the four submarines carries up to 40 nuclear warheads, each one eight times more powerful than the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima. The missiles depend on satellite navigation, controlled by the USA. Developments in drone surveillance make them vulnerable to hacking, and to location detection.

Threats to national security:

The National Security Strategy, published by the Government, states that there is currently no threat to the UK from other states developing weapons of mass destruction, instead identifying international terrorism, cyber-attacks and natural hazards as greater threats than nuclear war. Nuclear weapons have not proved a deterrent against such threats.

Cost:

They are also hugely expensive. The Ministry of Defence has admitted that the cost has now risen to £41 billion, an increase of £16 billion on previous estimates. The total lifetime cost for Trident replacement could be as high as £183 billion – approximately £10 million a day for 30 years. This money would be enough to fully fund A&E services for 40 years, employ 150,000 new nurses, build 1.5 million affordable homes, build 30,000 new primary schools, or cover tuition fees for four million students.

Jobs:

An expert study into the economic consequences of cancelling Trident concluded that the total reduction in direct and indirect civilian employment across Scotland if Trident was scrapped would be less than 1800 and that this reduction would not take place until after 2022. The Scottish National Party has calculated that diverting just £1 billion from the Trident replacement programme into infrastructure spending in the west of Scotland would generate around 15,000 jobs. These weapons are immoral, potentially genocidal and strategically irrelevant in the face of the realistic threats we face today.

Shame on you, Age UK

I READ your article on Age UK's club for the elderly shutting and was shocked to read the reason for the closure.

Surely if the elderly are attending to take part in activities whether it be for chair-based exercises, refreshments and table top activities, it should be what the elderly want it to be – fun, fitness or friendship and social activity.

It's disappointing to learn that Age UK would allow this to close purely because it wasn't running as "advertised". Shame on you.

Has any thought gone into the fact it may have been the only thing that some may have had.

I thought well-being would include happiness . . . company, companionship, compassion.

"Could not continue to run if they are not providing the service they receive funding for".

For goodness sake – far, far, far too much red tape.

Summed up with the comment "another factor considered when shutting down the service was the cost".

Why does everything have to come down to cost? Can we really not look after our elderly in the town?

This makes my blood boil.

All I can add is I hope that the public house which the club has moved to is far more comfy, hospitable and welcoming.

Meeting was a big success

COULD I please say a big thank you to the following people who attended the recent Parkinsons support meeting held at the Ex-Servicemen's Club on February 10.

Our thanks goes to Julie Wilson and Bernie Ryan, both from Parkinsons UK, for their help in organising the event, the lovely Kim who came along and showed us how exercise and games can be fun. And to all of you who suffer from Parkinsons Disease and your carers who came along and made it worth while.

Also to say a big big thank you to the staff and members at the Ex-Servicemen's Club who were kind enough to let us use, and really take over, their back room for the duration of the meeting.

I am sure everyone who came along on the day, went away with something positive from the meeting.

There are still a lot more people to reach and we have been pushing for this for nearly two years now and it is finally happening, please do not let it be an opportunity wasted. Show your support by attending and having your say.

We do not know what you want unless you tell us. If you know someone who suffers from Parkinsons Disease, or you suffer yourself, please let us know that it is a worthwhile event by attending the meetings.

We have also been running a small support group in the evening for several months now. We are going to continue for the foreseeable future with this meeting at Bevan House (the house at the top of Crowland Road where the junction meets Camps Road and Burton End) for anyone who cannot attend in the daytime, or anyone who wants to do both.

We meet on the first Wednesday of each month from 6.30pm till 8.30pm and all are welcome.

Just a quick reminder of future dates:

Evening meetings: Bevan House: First Wednesday of each month 6.30 pm – 8.30pm. Afternoon meetings: Ex-Servicemen's Club: Second Wednesday of each month, 2 – 4pm.

Once again a bid thanks you to everyone who has been regularly attending the meetings, to all the newcomers and to everyone who has helped make it possible.

HAVERHILL HEROES

Extraordinary young people in line for awards

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

A 10-YEAR-OLD fundraiser, a barber who survived 84 childhood operations and a food bank volunteer are the finalists for a community award for young people.

Joni Andre, Kurt Hatfield and Katie Gregory are the finalists for the young person's category in the Haverhill Heroes Awards run by the News and the Castle Partnership Academy Trust.

Joni Andre, who lives in Haverhill's Eastern Avenue, was just 9 when she told her parents that she wanted to organise a fundraising drive. After deciding on East Anglian Children's Hospices as her chosen charity, she set about raising money with a whole host of events, from a pamper evening to a sponsored cycle to a charity gala.

She has so far raised just over £1,700 for the charity, and plans to continue the good work.

Kurt Hatfield, a 24-year-old barber who lives in Haverhill's Rowell Close, was nominated for the award after surviving a childhood plagued with illness and going on to set up his own business.

Kurt was diagnosed with a rare condition called neutropenia at birth which meant that his bone marrow did not fight infection properly. He missed five years of schooling, had 84 operations and in 2003 spent 11 and a half months in hospital. He was given a bone marrow transplant in 2005 and is now healthy and running his own barber shop in Newmarket.

The third finalist is 22-year-old Katie Gregory, who gives up hours of her time to help pack boxes at Haverhill's REACH Community Projects food bank.

FINALISTS: Kurt Hatfield, Katie Gregory and Joni Andre

Katie, who lives in Haverhill's Augustus Close, spends every Monday from 9am to 1pm doing vital work to get food to those who need it.

The winner of the award will be announced at an awards ceremony at Haverhill Arts Centre on March 23.

New support for dualling A1307

A CAMPAIGN to dual the A1307 is gaining momentum – after a top Cambridge councillor pledged his support.

The campaign was launched by Suffolk and Haverhill Chambers of Commerce in October last year as they consider the road “not fit for purpose”, according to the chair of the Haverhill chamber, Paul Donno.

Now leader of Cambridge City Council and City Deal chairman Cllr Lewis Herbert has got behind the campaign.

He said: “I have previously discussed with representatives from Haverhill business community concerns over the A1307 and I am happy to join with them in lobbying transport ministers for much needed money to improve this road.”

The Suffolk business leaders had written to Cllr Herbert expressing “disappointment” after a report from the City Deal branded dualling the road “poor value for money”.

But Cllr Herbert said that

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

City Deal money had to be focused on transport links near Cambridge and could not be used for major road improvements.

He continued: “However, we recognise the vital importance of Haverhill as part of the regional economy, which is why we prioritised the A1307 in the first tranche of City Deal.

“As I explained to Haverhill Chamber of Commerce (last Thursday), I and South Cambridgeshire District Council are happy to join with Haverhill and its representatives to campaign and urge Government to provide the funds the road needs.

“I know Cambridgeshire County Council has also been lobbying for many years with partners for major improvements and have invested hundreds of thousands of pounds in safety measures.”

Cllr Herbert said that additional analysis of road links would be carried out to make sure the planned growth of Haverhill – with more than 4,000 new homes set to be built – would be taken into account. He said these further commitments would be made clear to the City Deal board.

Mr Donno said: “We are obviously disappointed about the content of the report but we are really encouraged that Cambridgeshire councils want to work with us moving forward.

“We look forward to getting to the point when we can dual the A1307, because it isn’t fit for purpose.”

HURRAH! Cleves Place staff celebrate the results of their CQC inspection

Inspectors rate care home ‘good’

A CARE home has been rated ‘good’.

Cleves Place Care Home in Haverhill’s Millfields Way was set up last year and was inspected by the Care Quality Commission (CQC) for the first time in November. The report was published this month.

It noted that staff had good relationships with residents and that support, including reminiscence areas, was provided for residents with dementia. Feedback from relatives was also positive.

Home manager Sharlene Van Tonder said: “We are all thrilled to have received a ‘good’ rating from the CQC. Not only are the CQC’s findings an important benchmark for those looking at future care for loved ones, but they also give existing residents and their families even more confidence in the care services we provide.”

HAVERHILL Leisure Centre has been recognised after "mystery shopper" visits and inspections.

Friends set sights on £10k to help cancer sufferers

TWO women who have each lost a parent to cancer are aiming to raise £10,000 to support people suffering from the disease.

Kerry Farrant and Emma Williams are fundraising for the Addenbrooke's oncology ward and local end-of-life care charity St Nicholas Hospice Care.

The pair are hoping to raise £10,000, to be divided equally between the causes, as both of them have lost a parent to cancer and Kerry has suffered from the disease herself.

Kerry, an Addenbrooke's hospital healthcare assistant, was 12 weeks pregnant when she was diagnosed with breast cancer six years ago.

"My first thing – I had a two year old then as well – was: 'Can I keep the baby?'" said Kerry.

Thankfully, she was able to, despite undergoing a mastectomy and chemotherapy during her pregnancy, and later gave birth to daughter Esmay, now 6.

Kerry, who lives in Mill Hill, Haverhill, was supported through her treatment by her family, but suffered a devastating loss when her dad, Sam Stewart, died from brain cancer in September last year.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

In the wake of the loss, Kerry teamed up with friend Emma Williams, of Strawberry Fields, Haverhill, who suffered a similar loss four years ago, to raise money for the services that supported their families.

Emma's mum, Patricia Redpath, died aged 65 after suffering a rare soft tissue cancer.

Emma said: "She was very brave and she lived life as well as she could for as long as she could."

She said that both the hospice and the oncology ward had provided a great deal of support and care throughout the illness.

The pair's first fundraising event, a bingo night on March 5, has already sold out, but the next will be a family fun day on May 8 at the New Croft in Chalkstone Way.

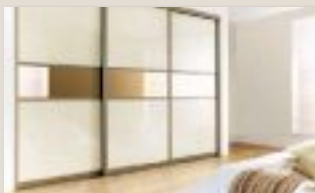

To find out more call the New Croft on (01440) 702 137 or message Kerry – listed as "Kerry Stewart Farrant" – on Facebook.

MAKING A SPLASH: Swimmers at Haverhill Leisure Centre

Picture: Paul Tebbutt

Swimming boom at pool

THE highest ever number of people has enrolled for swimming lessons at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

There are currently 1,250 people taking part in the centre's Swim Academy programme, including 500 schoolchildren.

One class even has a waiting list of 43 young swimmers.

Swimming co-ordinator

Juliet Jones said she was unsure why there had been a surge in demand for swimming lessons.

She added: "I think even when times are hard for families, people realise that swimming is a very important life skill. It's a life skill that you want for your child. It increases confidence and co-ordination, it's great exercise and it's great fun to either go by yourself and be independent or go with family or friends. Plus if you want to get into swimming competitively there is a fantastic opportunity at the centre with the West Suffolk Swimming Club."

The Swim Academy Programme runs for 50 weeks of the year.

Brown bin fee 'too expensive'

A RESIDENT of West Suffolk has branded new charges for brown bins "too expensive" when compared against the cost of providing the service.

The resident, who did not want to be named, said the figure given by Forest Heath District Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council of £500,000 in additional costs to remove the brown bins was "flawed", with a £40 charge for residents bearing "no relation to the actual costs of providing the service".

A total of 76,000 households in West Suffolk have received letters from the councils detailing new plans under which they will pay £40 per year to keep their brown bin collections.

The charge comes after funding was cut by Suffolk County Council, with the councils claiming they would need to find an extra £500,000.

However, the resident said that while an assumption by the councils claimed the price of composting green waste would rise from £34.11 per tonne to £46 per tonne, the disposal of green waste had actually fallen.

NATALIE ROBINSON

The resident said: "A more realistic assumption today would be a cost of £24.50 per tonne."

"Recalculating on this basis demonstrates that the additional cost to West Suffolk would be significantly lower – in the region of £78,000."

He said that this would be a charge of £1.01 per property and even if a sum of £46 per tonne was correct, that would be £6.45 per property.

The resident added: "The flawed figure of £500,000 in additional costs is still being used by councillors to justify removal of the free service even though it is now clear that this figure is completely wrong."

"Residents are being left with the headache of how to dispose of a brown bin that they may not want or afford."

However, the council said that the resident's figures had been based on more than 70,000 households – and the service was opt in, meaning all 70,000 would not be paying.

A spokesperson for FHDC said: "Asking only those people who want the convenience of having their garden waste picked up from their homes to pay for it is fairer than putting the cost on to every household in West Suffolk."

"The £40 a year will help to reduce the overall cost of dealing with our waste."

ARTS

Performers to give fresh take on play set in 1970s

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

ARE you craving the taste of cheese and pineapple on a stick? Do you miss the aroma of a fresh prawn cocktail?

One Haverhill drama society is hoping to help you relive the sights and sounds of the quintessential 1970s dinner party.

Centre Stage Theatre company's production of Abigail's Party is a new direction for the company, which often produces all-singing, all-dancing musicals such as their January pantomime Rapunzel or October's production of The Addams Family Musical.

The 1970s dinner party comedy has a small cast and a more intimate feel, but the Centre Stage team are hoping that the fame of the original BBC drama and their own fresh take on it will draw in the crowds.

Director Charlotte Scammerton said: "There hasn't been a play of just five people that's really brought in a big audience. We wanted to bring a play that has been well known on TV but can be modernised for a younger audience."

The story involves Beverley and her husband Laurence, who host a dinner party and are determined to impress their three guests.

Charlotte said that while swearing made the show unsuitable for very young viewers, it would appeal to anyone aged 15 or 16 and above,

DINNER PARTY:
The cast of Abigail's Party rehearse for their '70s show.
Picture: Andy Mayes.

and might hold a particular appeal for those who remember the dinner parties of the 1970s first-hand.

She said: "It's a comedy play, even though it has got a darker story behind it."

"It's about normal people in the 1970s having a dinner party and the goings-on behind closed doors.

There is a mystery."

She said the cast and set were "brilliant" and that costumes including big retro dresses were being organised.

The show is on at Haverhill Arts Centre from March 17 to 19. For more information, visit www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk.

It's time for Footlights

If you are yet to witness a Footlights show (it's a Cambridge institution), we insist you right that wrong immediately.

A comedy juggernaut in every sense of the word, past alumni include Alexander Armstrong, Stephen Fry, Hugh Laurie and David Mitchell. You can't argue with that.

You can get spotting future stars at the Cambridge Arts Theatre this Sunday and next, as the world-famous troupe return to the venue following last year's sell-out success. Promising to bring you an evening of pure fun-filled entertainment, packed with songs, sketches, monologues and stand-up, hilarity, my friends, comes guaranteed. See you there.

Thursday, February 25 – Friday, March 4

■ Join the audience for an NT Live broadcast of As You Like It today at 7pm. With her father the Duke banished and in exile, Rosalind and her cousin Celia leave their lives in the court behind them and journey into the Forest of Arden. There, released from convention, and disguising herself as a boy, Rosalind embraces a different way of living and falls spectacularly in love. This production has garnered some great reviews so don't miss out on a great piece of theatre.

■ As the male variety show Forbidden Nights proved so popular and sold out very quickly, the arts centre has another date lined up on Friday, September 30, at 8pm to see the Nights in action!

■ Matthew Bourne's internationally acclaimed dance thriller is back. The Car Man at 7pm on Tuesday, March 1, is loosely based on Bizet's popular opera but the familiar 19th century Spanish cigarette factory becomes a greasy garage-diner in 1960s America where the dreams and passions of a small town are shattered by the arrival of a handsome stranger.

■ Harry is something of a local celebrity in his small pub in Oldham but what's the second best hangman in England to do on the day they've abolished hanging? Amongst the reporters and pub regulars that descend upon him, his old assistant Syd and the peculiar Mooney lurk with very different motives. If you're at a loose end on Thursday, March 3, at 7pm, see NT Live's latest: Hangmen (15), a live broadcast starring David Morrissey. Full of gallows humour, it had a sell-out run at the Royal Court Theatre and has been called 'the best new play of the year.'

■ Probably the most entertaining group to come out of the 1960s and 70s, The Barron Knights, pictured, hit Haverhill on Friday, March 4, at 8pm with The Soundtrack of Our Lives.

Apart from the old favourites like Call

Up The Groups, the Knights play their inimitable version of The William Tell Overture plus their hilarious take on Windmills Of Your Mind about what happens to your body as you get older, plus much, much more.

New LEAF ups range by 25%

WARM WELCOME: To new LEAF

AS the new Nissan LEAF 30kWh goes on sale across Europe – with improved range and enhanced features – Nissan has released a stunning short film revealing the car from a block of ice in breathtaking Norefjell, Norway.

Europe's best-selling electric vehicle now delivers up to 155 miles of driving range on a single charge, 25 per cent further than before, and comes with the latest evolution of the NissanConnect EV infotainment system on Acenta and Tekna trims. This includes improvements to the remote defrost feature, superior functionality and greater connectivity.

The New Nissan LEAF 30kWh goes 25 percent further than the previous model, thanks to Nissan's innovative 30kWh battery technology, beating all of its competitors within the segment, without compromising on practicality or usability.

Shock figures on vehicle recalls

STERICYCLE ExpertSOLUTIONS, the product recall management firm, this week released its Q4 2015 Index, which reveals that automotive recalls have increased by approximately 20 per cent every year since 2013, with German and Japanese manufacturers racking up the vast majority of auto recalls launched in Europe last year. Between the third and fourth quarters of 2015, auto recalls climbed 16 per cent.

The Q4 Index, based on data from the EU's RAPEX and RASFF rapid alert systems, reports a total of 59 auto recalls this quarter, and 235 during the course of 2015. Electrical issues, air bags, brakes and steering systems accounted for many of the leading causes of auto recalls.

Industry experts are not anticipating that auto recalls will continue at these exponential rates. However, automotive manufacturers in Europe are operating in an environment that is undergoing increased scrutiny, particularly around the safety of electrical

RECALL SAGA: In many ways this issue has most affected the US market, where vehicle legislation is stringent and comprehensive components, which is likely to prompt repeated recall events. "Automotive recalls are generating a significant amount of interest, not least from European policy makers and regulators," says Farzad Henareh, European vice president, Stericycle ExpertSOLUTIONS. "We anticipate that the intensified focus on root causes and countries of origin will result in regulatory change which will have a marked effect on the recall landscape in 2016."

As the Stericycle Index points out, heightened awareness of auto safety has already resulted in the EU mandating new safety features including seatbelt reminders, ISOFIX child seat anchorages and tyre pressure monitoring systems. With more mandates likely to follow, manufacturers can expect to see even greater regulatory complexity.

In terms of acting on auto recall notices, European consumers are demonstrably more compliant with recall procedures than consumers in the US who are suffering from recall fatigue.

"It's great that recall notices in the EU are eliciting a positive response from many customers. However, the completion of recall campaigns is still lasting up to 24 months, leaving many affected cars on the road," continued Henareh. "Enhancing owner data and recall processes could help auto manufacturers accelerate recall completion and strengthen repair rates."

CUBIST: The Skoda VisionS

Skoda puts its Vision into a hybrid future

ŠKODA'S SUV range is being strengthened with the Škoda VisionS, which gives an insight into how Škoda's future SUV design language might look.

The design "is clearly influenced by Czech Cubism and the tradition of Bohemian crystal art" and features a plug-in hybrid powertrain. The Škoda VisionS can go up to 50km on electric alone, and will travel up to 1,000km with both systems.

It offers 225bhp, yet 1.9 litres of petrol is all the car needs to travel 60 miles (45 grams CO₂ per kilometre).

The internal combustion engine is a 1.4 TSI with 156bhp and 250 Nm of torque. This works alongside an e-motor that provides 40 kW of 40 kW continuous power and 220 Nm peak torque.

GOOGLE: Due on London's roads?

Google's driverless car test bid in London

TRANSPORT bosses in London are in "active discussions" with Google in a bid to bring trials of its driverless cars to the UK.

Deputy mayor for transport Isabel Dedring said officials met with the technology giant recently to encourage it to extend its pilot scheme to the capital.

It would be the first time Google's autonomous cars have been tested extensively outside of the US. Ms Dedring said: "It is still very early days but we would be keen for trials to happen in London whenever Google are ready to move them into other countries."

Google's fleet of prototype driverless cars rely on sensors and software to complete journeys.

Earlier this week the Government announced it will invest £20 million in eight driverless car projects in the UK.

Transport Secretary Patrick McLoughlin said the technology would "profoundly change the way we travel within years".

Park Assist and Apple CarPlay for latest 2008

PEUGEOT 2008 is now taking on an even more assertive, powerful and appealing SUV design.

Its wheel arch extensions (from Allure level), new vertical front grille and scuff plates (from Allure level) confirm its robustness, designed for everyday use.

The new Ultimate Red colour further epitomises the power and desirability of the new 2008. The Access, Active and Allure levels are complemented by the new superior 'GT Line' model. This trim level is already a very popular choice on other key Peugeot models (208, 308 and 508), and adds a sporty theme with a red/black coloured features.

Grip Control – an adapted traction system – gives the 2008 its versatility on all types of terrain. It is combined with Mud & Snow (all-season) certified winter tyres. The 2008 is equipped with MirrorScreen, based on MirrorLink™ and Apple CarPlay, along with the reversing camera, Active City Brake and Park Assist – a rarity in this segment. An unparalleled dynamic performance is apparent in all versions. The Euro6 engines ensure high-level driving pleasure while remaining fuel efficient. Four versions are best-in-class in their segment, including the 1.2L PureTech 130 S&S BVM6.

The petrol range includes five petrol units and a BlueHDI 1.6L Diesel engine which combines Selective Catalytic Reduction (SCR) technology and additivated Diesel Particulate Filter (DPF). This engine is characterised by record low fuel consumption, regardless of the version – 75bhp, 100bhp and 120bhp.

Haverhill gymnasts make the grade in Ipswich

Gymnastics

YOUNGSTERS from Haverhill Gymnastics Club are benefiting from new premises by being able to take part in higher profile competitions.

The move into the new base has enabled the gymnasts to do more training, which has in turn given them the opportunity to compete at higher level events.

The club recently sent 19 girls to the Suffolk County grading event at Pipers Vale, Ipswich.

Some of them passed their grades while others even achieved the highest scores of the day.

Foley hat-trick is spur for triumph

GEORGE Foley scored a hat-trick of tries as Haverhill defeated Mildenhall & Red Lodge 45-7 in the Greene King IPA Eastern Counties West.

Foley had got the first try after three minutes, but Mildenhall replied with a converted try to make it 7-5.

However, Haverhill responded as Sam Holmes scored two tries and Paul Bergin and Jake Jeffs got one apiece, with Jeffs adding the remaining points with his boot.

Borough go down against Yarmouth

OPENER: Haverhill Borough go behind Picture: Gary Brown

HAVERHILL Borough suffered a 4-1 defeat away to promotion-chasing Great Yarmouth in the Thurlow Nunn League, First Division.

Yarmouth took an early lead in the seventh minute when a far post corner was headed back across to Mitch Forbes, who headed past goalkeeper Graham Smith.

Borough then put together their best period of the game.

Controlling the possession and with Charlie Sigler looking dangerous on the left wing, Jon Milne was the first to test Yarmouth keeper Jack Whatmough with a header from a Harry Halls corner after 23 minutes.

It was Halls who equalised for the visitors a minute later after a mazy run and exchange of passes with Craig Pruden saw him arrive in the

Football

Yarmouth penalty area with the ball still at his feet, and blazed past Whatmough.

Parity remained for only two minutes, as in the next Yarmouth attack a cross from the right reached Sean Perfect in the penalty area and he clinically finished.

Lee Roots burst through the Borough defence and put Yarmouth 3-1 ahead at the break, followed by Forbes adding a fourth in the 85th minute.

Haverhill Rovers suffered defeat in the Premier Division too, going down 4-0 at home to Thetford Town.

Borough host Ely tomorrow night while Rovers are at Ipswich Wanderers on Saturday.

Williamson keeps winning run going

MANDY Williamson continued her good recent form with victory in Haverhill ladies' weekend stableford.

Williamson took the win with 34 points, with Elaine Ward second on 33 and Jackie Condon third on 27.

The midweek stableford was won by Mary Sail, who scored 31. Condon was second on 30, beating third-placed Gerry Wheatley on countback.

The latest round of the Suffolk Winter Alliance at Hintlesham saw a field of 68 players, including two professionals taking part.

Despite the recent wet weather, only one temporary green was in play.

The professional prize was won by the host club's Phil Westley with of 80, and the runner-up was Alex Davey of Stowmarket with 83.

The fourball better ball stableford was won by the Stoke-by-Nayland's Paul Nuttall and Craig Morton with 45 points.

In second place were Sam Ward and Jason Finbra with 44, and Ash Hammond and Nikki Spong were third on 43.
